Greetings from Governor Jon S. Corzine and Commissioners Joseph V. Doria, Jr. and Lucille Davy

Dear Friends,

New Jersey's Latino community is the fastest growing population in the state. Thus, New Jersey's future is inextricably linked to the economic success and accomplishments of this important constituency.

The state of New Jersey is working to address the language and cultural barriers facing Latinos that prohibit complete access to the services they need. The Department of Community Affairs' (DCA) Center for Hispanic Policy, Research and Development and the Department of Education (DOE) offer a variety of programs and services that seek to educate and empower Latinos from all walks of life.

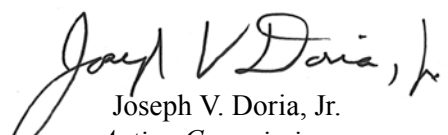

In this vein, DCA and DOE have recently partnered to create this Resource Guide for Adult English Language Learners of New Jersey to help individuals find English as a Second Language (ESL) programs in their areas. In addition, this directory contains a listing of ESL resources available on the web, and resources for businesses that want to provide their employees with training.

Together, we are working to provide the state's Latino community with a better quality of life – for the people, places, and progress of New Jersey. We hope you find this guide helpful.

With regards,

Jon S. Corzine
Governor

Joseph V. Doria, Jr.
Acting Commissioner
Department of Community Affairs

Lucille E. Davy
Commissioner
Department of Education

About the Guide

The Resource Guide for Adult English Language Learners of New Jersey is designed to help individuals find English as a Second Language Programs in their areas. The directory also contains a listing of Internet ESL resources, as well as resources for businesses that wish to provide ESL training for employees. The listings are grouped by county and alphabetically.

Resources used to compile this directory include:

- The International Institute of New Jersey's "Resource Guide and Tutorial for Immigrants," produced by the International
- Institute of New Jersey
- The New Jersey Department of Education Website
- The Office of Faith Based Initiatives Website
- The Office of Refugee Resettlement Website

Many libraries offer ESL classes and other community services free of charge. Visit www.publiclibraries.com/newjersey.htm for a listing of local libraries.
